

Developments on Israel Extend Talks Patrol Tri-State Highways in Milk Strike

New Jersey Group Set For March Arrests Result During Violence

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—State troopers patrolled highways today in sections of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to curb future violence in a milk price strike, now in its third day.

Reinforced state police detachments were ordered out as the strike grew in momentum. The strike thus far has been marked by sporadic outbreaks of gunfire, dynamiting, truck stoppages, picketing, fist fights and milk contamination.

1,000 to March
Meanwhile, in Trenton, N. J., State Attorney General Grover C. Richman Jr. said he had been notified that a thousand New Jersey milk farmers would stage a march on the state house this afternoon.

Richman said the Rev. John W. Dorney, head of a farmer's organization spearheading a tri-state milk strike, had told him by telephone the farmers would stage the demonstration to press demands for a higher price for their product.

There have been no serious injuries, but several men have been arrested.

Thousand Tons Destroyed
A thousand tons of milk have been spilled on the ground or otherwise destroyed as a small group of dairy farmers pressed demands for a higher price for raw milk.

Only an estimated 3,500 of the tri-state area's 45,000 dairymen supplying the New York city metropolitan milkshed are said to be involved. The strikers are members of the Tri-State Master Dairy Guild.

In Washington, federal farm officials were keeping close watch on the situation lest it break out in other parts of the country and weaken marketing control programs.

Widespread actions of a similar nature in the past have led the Agriculture Department to revise pricing provisions of federal marketing orders regulating the sale of fluid milk. The federal orders only set minimum prices, but these drop in the spring.

10 Per Cent Withheld
The Milk Marketing Administration said that about 10 per cent of the metropolitan area's milk supply was withheld yesterday. It caused no hardship to housewives. Affected were 48 of the area's 381 processing plants, an increase of 17 over the previous day.

The plants normally produce 10 million quarts of milk a day. Withheld yesterday were 2,048, 925 pounds of milk, sufficient for almost one million quarts of milk.

City Health Commissioner Leona Baumgartner said it has had "no effect on the fresh milk supply" in the city. She said (Continued on Page 12, Col. 4)

Red Cross Names Campaign Aides

Division and county township chairmen were announced during a meeting of the planning committee for the 1957 Red Cross campaign for members and funds Monday night at the Chapter House.

Attorney Francis X. Tucker, general chairman, announced that Attorney Joseph D. Hill would serve as county chairman while Alderman Richard V. Roth would be city chairman.

Michael J. Larkin will handle publicity.

Other appointments on the advance gifts were:
Alexander B. Shufeldt, banks; Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Jr., physicians; Dr. John A. Comstock, dentists; Albert C. Flanagan and Thomas F. Saccoman, business; Robert S. Russell, industries; City Judge Raymond J. Mino, attorneys and Walter T. Tremper, initial committee.

Fund planning committee members also include James A. Hanstein, Arthur Kurtznacker, Henry H. Parker, Harry Gold and Oscar Lawatsch.

During March, hundreds of volunteers throughout Ulster county will take the field to launch the 1957 campaign to raise the $37,000 quota. Organization is well underway in both the city and county and Mr. (Continued on Page 12, Col. 5)

ATTEMPTS TO DEFEND MILK—Dairymen George Gage, seeking to deliver milk to a farmers' cooperative in Holland Patent, N. Y., beats off pickets from rear of his truck while

U. S. Makes Another Appeal

Israel Urged to Move Out Without Pressure

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The United States today again urged Israel to make "a voluntary withdrawal" from disputed Middle East areas to avoid United Nations sanctions or other pressure.

The State Department issued a statement to that effect as Secretary Dulles met in an urgent and hastily arranged conference with Israel's Foreign Minister Golda Meir and Ambassador Abba Eban.

State Department press officer Lincoln White reported consultations are under way with six other countries in the United Nations to work out "appropriate language by which to express the President's policies."

White emphasized there had been no change "in any respect" in America's position as set forth by President Eisenhower in his Feb. 20 radio-television address to the nation.

White's statement noted U. S. collaboration with the other states on what presumably might emerge as a new pressure resolution in the UN. Then he said:

"In the event this becomes necessary we are still hopeful that there will be a voluntary withdrawal by Israel so that no further UN action in this respect will be called for. We are now having a further exchange on this aspect of the matter with the government of Israel."

Mrs. Meir, who accompanied Eban to Dulles' office, is in this country attending UN sessions in New York.

Reade Theatre Sale To Store Is Denied

Rumors that the Kingston Theatre, 323½ Wall street, had been sold to the S. S. Kresge Co., 327 Wall street, were described as groundless today.

Rumor about the city had it that the theatre had been sold for an estimated $450,000.

Herbert C. Foster, manager of Kresge's, said that if it were true he would certainly like to hear about it.

A spokesman for Walter Reade Theatres, Jersey City, N. J., told The Freeman that there was absolutely nothing to the report.

IBM Stock Split Proposed, 200 Million Needed

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—Stockholders of the International Business Machines Corp. will vote at their annual meeting April 30 on a proposal for a 2-for-1 stock split.

They also will act on a plan for issuing sufficient new shares to raise 200 million dollars.

Both steps were recommended yesterday by the board of directors.

President Thomas B. Watson Jr. said the stock offering would be IBM's first public financing since 1925. He said the financing was needed to expand production, including that of electronic units.

IBM common stock closed yesterday at $52 a share. Details of the stock offering will not be announced until after the meeting, May 7, was set tentatively as the date of record for stock to be split.

Additional Room Needed in New County Building

Since plans for a new central county building were originally prepared in 1945, several departments which will be housed in the proposed county building have "outgrown" the space allotted at that time and additional space will be incorporated in the plans which are now being revised.

An inspection of the site was made recently by the County Office Building committee, Jesse McHugh chairman, and at that time heads of departments were consulted in regard to necessary working and storage space.

Departments Grow
It was found space allotted back in 1945 when the plans were originally prepared as a post-war planning project, were already inadequate for some departments.

Working and storage space in the basement and on the first floor, which was considered adequate 10 years ago, appears to be "outgrown" now.

In revising the 1945 plans to meet present day conditions it has been found necessary to add a one story and basement addition at the rear.

Not In First Plans
One of the reasons for this addition, Chairman McHugh disclosed, was the allotment of space in the former basement area for Civil Defense and for a lunch-snack bar which had not been contemplated in the original plans.

At the inspection, representatives of several departments were in attendance, including the county clerk's office, surrogate's office, motor vehicle bureau (Continued on Page 20, Col. 5)

Division Occurs on Insurance GOP Leaders Are Apart on Plans

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Legislature's Republican leaders, already split over telephone rates, seemed to be heading in separate directions today on another major issue—plugging loopholes in the compulsory insurance law.

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck announced late yesterday that he had reached agreement with Gov. Harriman's Democratic administration on a means of helping persons injured in accidents not covered by the law.

Would Raise Premiums
Heck said legislation carrying out the "compromise" plan would be introduced soon. An aide said the proposal would raise motorists' insurance premiums by $1 to $1.25 a year.

Heck's counterpart in the Senate, Republican Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, apparently was taken by surprise. He said he could not comment on the announcement "since I know nothing of the plan."

Mahoney indicated last week that he was inclined to go along with a legislative committee's recommendation for a one-year delay in any such action. At the same time Heck plumped for prompt legislation.

Wants More Time
The GOP Senate leader had counseled delay also on legislation that would block the New York Telephone Co.'s bid for a $55,400,000-a-year rate increase. He said more time was needed to reach a decision.

But, while Mahoney beat down a Democratic attempt to force action in the Senate yesterday, Heck prompted the Assembly to report out the telephone bill. He let it be known that he would push for passage.

The leaders did produce one of their familiar joint statements yesterday, teaming with Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz to announce plans for establishing a "civil rights" bureau within the state law department.

Mahoney, Heck and Lefkowitz said a $100,000 appropriation would be sought to set up the unit, which they said would "open a broad new avenue in the fight against discrimination."

Sees Political Scramble
Charles Abrams, chairman of the State Commission against discrimination, said the proposal would turn the discrimination issue into "an administrative mess and a political scramble."

He called again for powers that would permit SCAD to initiate complaints, instead of waiting for complaints to be filed before taking action.

Heck has criticized Abrams as too zealous in his SCAD role. The influential Assembly chief-investigator asserted recently that he would not increase the powers of any commission headed by (Continued on Page 12, Col. 5)

3 City Crossings Will Get Signals

Automatic signal devices for protection at railroad crossings along the West Shore line in the city, as requested some time ago are expected to be installed this year, it was learned today.

A report from Albany today also indicated that the State Public Service Commission next month is due to launch a long-range program for better protection at an estimated 800 grade crossings.

Three Crossings Listed
Automatic protective devices are authorized for the Gage street, TenBroeck avenue and cemetery crossings in the city, as requested by local aldermen more than a year ago.

Crossings at Flatbush, Foxhall and Smith avenues will continue to be manned by gate-tenders.

Public hearings were held last year on conditions at the local crossings, and on others in Saugerties, and it was subsequently decided that the automatic signal devices should be installed at the three local crossings, and that the Saugerties crossings should be protected by automatically operated gates.

Gates in Operation
Automatic gates are now in operation at Lake Katrine, Highland and Saugerties, as well as at other crossings along the West Shore.

The PSC has scheduled for March 12, the Associated Press said, a day-long series of hearings in Albany to determine whether automatic devices should be installed at 30 grade crossings in various parts of the state.

State Pays Half
Under terms of 1956 legislation the state agreed to pay half the cost of installing grade-crossing protective devices ordered by the PSC, after April 1 this year. Railroads involved must pay the other half of the cost. Previously railroads paid all costs.

Cost of some individual installations runs as high as $50,000.

It was noted that at the local crossings protected by gate-tenders, that a main function of the men stationed at the more heavily traveled crossings, is to keep vehicular traffic moving. They are watchful also to prevent mishap where train and vehicular movements are apt to conflict with each other, and they watch the gates so that they do not remain down too long and hold up traffic when crossings are free of train movement.

The new automatic signals will operate in conjunction with gates at Gage street, Ten Broeck avenue and the cemetery crossings. Flash signals go on first as trains approach and then gates are lowered. A gate-tower man, in the event a train stops before reaching a crossing, can break the automatic signal, raise the gates and allow traffic to pass.

The other automatic type gates operate solely by train movements in a crossing area.

WRGB to Contest Switch to UHF

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—Television station WRGB says it will contest a federal order that it shift from a very-high to an ultra-high frequency operation.

General Manager R. W. Welcott said yesterday that compliance would deprive 120,700 persons of television service and that the order was "obviously not in the public interest."

New Realignment
The Federal Communications Commission yesterday announced it had ordered realignment of channels to make TV operations in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy and the Elmira areas ultra-high frequency only.

The UHF channels were designated in 1952 in the face of increasing demands for channel assignment. At the time, all home receivers were VHF only.

As UHF channels began operations, manufacturers began making sets equipped to receive (Continued on Page 20, Col. 3)

Harriman Certain to Sign

Bush Presses for 209 Link Passage in Senate

State Senator E. Ogden Bush, of Walton today pressed for early Senate action on the so-called Route 209 by-pass bill, which passed in the Assembly yesterday.

The senator sought an early report from the parks and highway committee which received the measure directly after it was passed in the Assembly yesterday afternoon.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, of Woodstock, introduced the bill, which provides for a major by-pass highway to connect Routes 209 and 9W, the latter at a point near its connection with the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge road. It will extend from Hurley, west of the city to Route 9W not far from the IBM plant.

Gov. Averell Harriman, at the bridge opening here Feb. 2, said the measure would have priority, and it is expected to be passed in the Senate.

Senator Bush succeeds Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, in the state's 34th senatorial district comprised of Ulster, Delaware, Greene and Sullivan counties. Senator Wicks retired last year.

President, Mollet to Meet Again Tuesday Parleys Called Success

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower and French Premier Mollet, apparently expecting United Nations developments on the Israeli-Egyptian crisis, today decided to continue their talks into tomorrow.

The White House conferences, which started yesterday, had been scheduled to end this morning.

Until mid-day all indications were that the talks would conclude on schedule. News photographers had been summoned to the garden outside Eisenhower's office to make pictures of the President and the premier in advance of issuance of a formal communique.

Delay Announced
A few minutes later the newsmen were notified there would be a delay, and they were asked to return to the press room.

Then James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, announced that the President and Mollet had decided to meet again tomorrow morning. Hagerty added issuance of the communique would be delayed until after that session.

Asked whether continuing efforts in the United Nations to get Israeli troops out of territory claimed by Egypt were the reason for extension of the Eisenhower-Mollet discussions, Hagerty replied that the situation "in the Middle East is part of it, of course."

Progress Reported
Earlier Hagerty told questioning newsmen there "certainly was" a great deal of progress made at two conferences and a formal luncheon yesterday.

The talks have been aimed not so much at reaching specific agreements as at healing a breach which followed the French and British invasion of Egypt last October. The United States had protested that move.

Israel, which moved in about the same time, still has troops stationed in two areas claimed by Egypt, and has rebuffed UN demands for withdrawal.

Confident of Settlement
As a result of yesterday's discussions, top French diplomats said Mollet now is confident the Israeli troop withdrawal problem can be settled without drastic United Nations sanctions.

Mollet is known to have argued strongly against any such punishment of Israel during two intensive talks yesterday at the White House.

Hagerty reported that the Middle East crisis topped the list (Continued on Page 12, Col. 8)

Installing 5-Ton Steel Vault Door

A five-ton steel vault door which swings open or closed at the touch of a button will be installed at Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Association's new main office building at 235 Fair street.

First of its kind in Kingston, the new door is operated electrically to eliminate the need for the vault custodian to manipulate a ponderous wheel and manually open or close the heavy door.

George Pankuch of the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company, Hamilton, Ohio, is supervising installation of the door, which was begun on Monday. A resident of Long Island, Mr. Pankuch has had charge of all east coast installations for his company. Home-Seekers' door is the ninth electrically operated door on the east coast, and only the second to have a complete 180-degree swing.

The nearest similar door, although not capable of the 180-degree swing, is located at the Kerkonson National Bank, Mr. Pankuch said.

Herring-Hall-Marvin, which manufactures the door under the name of "Five Star," will also furnish the drive-in-window and the envelope night depository for Home-Seekers' new building.

Features Safety
While the object of the push-button vault door is to make it easier for authorized persons to operate, it also features safety controls against unauthorized manipulation. Before the push button will work, it is necessary (Continued on Page 12, Col. 3)

RUBBER COMPANY PLANT BURNS—Flames racing through the Pequannock Rubber Co. plant in Butler, N. J., silhouetted the building against smoke-filled sky early Feb. 26. Fire, estimated to have caused a million dollars damage, threatened the entire Butler business district before being controlled. Police said all men working in the plant escaped to safety. (AP Wirephoto)

McClellan Is Primed For His Toughest Case

NEA Staff Correspondent
Washington, (NEA)—A one-time small town trial lawyer from Arkansas is now primed for the biggest case of his life—the case against alleged corruption in the labor movement.

Actually he has been boning up for the task since the day he was admitted to the bar at 17 by a special act of the state legislature.

He's Sen. John L. McClellan, today the Senate's No. 1 investigator.

As chairman of a special committee launching a full scale investigation of labor rackets, McClellan is confident he has the goods to whittle union crooks down to size. And most experts agree that if anyone can pull this off, he can.

Behind McClellan's familiar horn-rimmed glasses and frightening scowl is a legal mind that combines brilliance with hard learned horse-sense.

And like the shrewd country lawyer that he is, he's not tipping his hand until witnesses are before him.

"This is the toughest investigation I've ever undertaken," says the Senator as he stands in his outer office with a sheaf of letters in his hands. His dry drawl seems to cut into every corner of the room.

The phone rings and his administrative assistant Ralph Matthews tells him that he has a long distance call.

"This is McClellan," he says grabbing the nearest receiver. He listens a minute and then rifles off several fast answers, politely but all business.

The call concerns the labor investigation and is referred to Robert Kennedy, committee counsel.

"People are calling about this business from all over the country," explains Matthews. "Of course the Senator only has time to take a few of the calls. Most are sent directly to the committee staff."

"See all these letters," adds McClellan. "We're getting hundreds of 'em. Here's just one from a man who says he lost his job because of union racketeers."

Another call comes in for the Senator.

"All he does is work, work, work, that's practically his whole life," continues Matthews. "I don't know of a Sunday when he hasn't come to the office, and every night he takes home a bulging brief-case."

"We can't get him to do anything else. We wish he would relax and get a little exercise once in a while like golf. Go ask anybody about him. Ask McCarthy."

You'll remember that it was Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) who traded verbal haymakers with McClellan during the bitter Army-McCarthy hearings. That's when McClellan was first noticed by the public.

"If you've ever watched me in operation, you know I don't use an iron fist," says McClellan who broke with McCarthy but who maintains an amiable relationship with him today.

"I'm not a tough guy," he adds. "I treat every witness fairly according to his constitutional rights."

"But I'll take no nonsense," he exclaims, bristling with indignation at the mention of the four Teamster Union officials who refused to answer questions recently before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

"They were in contempt of Congress and if we didn't call them short, we wouldn't have a leg to stand on with any future witnesses who claim we don't have jurisdiction."

Despite the grind of preparing for the investigation, McClellan looks in the peak of health and younger than his 61 years. His black hair with a few streaks of gray is thinning in front but tends to curl slightly in back.

Probably his only form of relaxation is to watch an occasional boxing bout over television at home. And that fits in with his personality.

A lone wolf in the Senate, he goes at every task in bulldog fashion. But members of his staff loyally swear that he has never shot an unkind word in their direction.

"His only trouble," admits Matthews, "is his determination to look after all the details. As a small town lawyer and district prosecutor he had to prepare all his own cases. And today he still tries to do everything himself."

McClellan has had a full measure of success and sorrow. His first wife died suddenly in 1938 (he married again later), a son died during World War 2 and an auto accident in 1947 took away a second son.

After McClellan came back from World War 1 he went into law practice and in 1926 he became prosecuting attorney for the seventh judicial district in Arkansas. He learned law as a teen-ager from his father.

In 1934 he was elected to Congress and served in the House until 1939. After failing at a bid for the Senate, he was elected to the upper chamber in 1942.

Conservative by nature and unashamed of it, he has resisted what he considers socialist trends. At the same time he has gone along with many of the New Deal programs such as social security.

Taking over chairmanship of the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations from McCarthy after the Democrats won control of the Senate in the 1954 elections, McClellan hastened to cut out the razzle-dazzle and put the committee back at less headline making activity.

And what does McCarthy say about McClellan, the man some say is mainly responsible for his downfall?

"I have the highest opinion of John," states McCarthy. "He's a capable investigator who's trying to expose crooks who are no more labor leaders than I am a Hottentot."

Until the Voice of America was founded in World War II some 15 years ago, the United States never had made a systematic effort to tell the world its story.

The war taught us the absolute necessity of spreading abroad our full story—not only the activity of the war front but the portrait of American democracy at work. We realized that there was danger in allowing dictator countries to spray their verbal poison about in a vacuum.

At the outset, of course, we were evident amateurs as measured against the practical totalitarian propagandists. But through the years we have learned a great deal about the business of getting the truth told in the world's far corners.

Occasionally we have foolishly put too much stress on frivolous or sordid aspects of American life. Now and then we have momentarily aped our rivals in misguided effort to outdo them at their own game.

But, by and large, the Voice and the broader information services now lumped together in the U. S. Information Agency have done a splendid trail-blazing job for this country.

Seldom have they had enough money for best results. By comparison with Soviet propaganda efforts, ours look quite modest in scale. Yet we have succeeded in giving the world a much more understandable portrait of America than it had 15 years ago.

There are still grave problems aside from money. Our information work must be closely tied to official government foreign policy. That puts it in a kind of strait jacket.

But the argument is made that there is no help for this, since foreigners inevitably identify any federally sponsored utterance with official policy. The fear is they would be badly confused if the Voice "took off" on its own.

Neither the Voice nor related information services always draw top personnel. The caliber of our product moves up and down with the quality of our propagandists.

But today we have a sprawling information network with a backlog of a decade and a half's experience.

Its accounts of American life and world affairs girdle the earth in broadcasts and other reports in 40 languages. President Eisenhower's anniversary broadcast went out over 78 transmitters. His English-speaking audience alone was figured at 200 million people.

The Voice of America tackles a tough assignment on which it can never let up. But it has earned its 15 birthday candles.

In a couple of hundred words at Gettysburg Lincoln summed up a nation's faith in its cause and its hopes for the future. Today most orators take several times that number of words to introduce the fellow who is going to introduce the speaker.

MAVERICK MISSILES

The public generally understands that a great deal of military flying is necessary in peace time. It is recognized, and accepted, that men cannot be trained without a lot of such flying. It also is understood that an occasional accident is inevitable.

There is less general understanding, however, of why the armed forces must release unmanned guided missiles where there is a chance that such missiles may get out of control and plunge into a populated area. Here again, the public realizes that such missiles must be launched in considerable number if they are to be perfected. But many people are not convinced that missiles should be fired over land areas as long as there is a chance that they will evade control.

Perhaps the Air Force ought to clarify the situation by explaining publicly why the guided missiles must be launched over land rather than out to sea.

With various cabinet members blurring out so many things they later wish they hadn't said, maybe we do need a new department—the Department of Retraction.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

UNINFORMED MASS OPINION

There seems to be a growing belief that opinion must be formed or informed and that the uneducated masses do not know enough to make any sense. Those who think this way have to explain how it happens that so large a part of the American population have gone to high school and some kind of college in this generation. Do they assert that in the good, old days when so few had college educations that the majority of our people were better informed than they are today? Or is this an admission of the failure of our educational institutions?

Also, the assumption that the people are so uninformed is a criticism of our newspapers, magazines, radio and television which reach more Americans than ever before. Is it not rather that most hard-headed, practical citizens find their own conclusions from the data presented to them? Dean Edward W. Barrett of the Graduate School of Journalism at Columbia University has stated the case of the well-informed versus the uninformed better than I had ever seen it done. He said:

"I, for one, shudder at what might happen if some new mountebank, as temporarily persuasive as Joe McCarthy, should arise and start inflaming our highly vocal but ill-informed citizens on the delicate issues that lie ahead. That is why, just as de Toqueville feared the 'tyranny of the majority,' men like Walter Lippmann today see domination by uninformed mass opinion as a grave threat."

However, it is mass opinion, informed or uninformed, which is bound to prevail in all but totalitarian countries. The question then is whether it is necessary to change our form of government and to limit the rights of the people so that instead of uninformed mass opinion, we shall be governed by informed elite opinion. And what evidence is there to establish the assurance that the informed can also think well and competently? For instance, it is not difficult to become informed about Arab history and literature or even to learn to read and speak Arabic, Aramaic and Hebrew. But does that have any relationship to wisdom or judgment or the emotional quality of patriotism?

I am making no defense of ignorance but I must ask why even in Soviet Russia where the government need pay no attention to public opinion, informed or uninformed, they have not entrusted their government to a council of experts but rather to two roughneck politicians such as Khrushchev and Bulganin.

There is a vast hiatus between the capacity to amass information and the ability to think out problems. Such a statesman as Sir Winston Churchill is not an expert in many fields. He could hire these experts who briefed him as to the facts, but it takes judgment, imagination, presence, wisdom to see the consequences of a political action maybe decades after the action was initiated.

Perhaps that explains why Stalin was able to increase the territory of Russia beyond the dreams of Peter the Great. Khrushchev was undoubtedly correct when he said that Stalin was a poor general and something of a coward, but Stalin fought a winning war and if Americans wish to claim that they were wiser than Stalin, it can be said for him that he knew how to harness the United States into doing it and giving him $11,000,000,000 besides.

Who is informed and who is uninformed? In the area of the world which I know best, I read the names of persons as experts whose judgment has not been as sound as that of a merchant buying handkerchiefs and underwear in Swatow. The difference between a footnote reader and one who has to deal closely with a people is that the former believes what an established name has cited as a truth, even though the established name is only quoting another established name, whereas the latter has had to learn the psychology of a people to be able to deal with them. When Michael Borodin came to China in 1924 to rule it, which he managed to do for nearly three years, he hardly knew anything about the people or the country. He knew no dialect of Chinese and spoke through an interpreter. But he was a born psychologist. Borodin had the advantage of being a revolutionist by profession in a country that wanted a revolution.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SUICIDE

Preoccupation with thoughts of suicide is usually only one aspect of the individual's poor adjustment to life but it must be treated effectively before other problems are considered, as we can understand. Dr. Herbert Hendin, Bellevue Hospital, New York city, tells us that the treatment for suicide does not differ very much from the intensive psychotherapy (treatment of the psyche—mind and emotions) given for other disturbances.

Psychotherapy can remove the danger of suicide. However, the final outlook must take into consideration the entire personality. A concealed predisposition to depression or schizophrenia is difficult to alter permanently. If the therapist can establish mutually satisfactory relations with the individual, out-patient management is usually possible with a reasonable degree of safety. However, aggressive, paranoid (suffering from delusions of persecution) patients, who are subject to sudden severe emotional shifts between rage and fear, and apathetic schizophrenic patients, who are overwhelmed by guilt and fear, are difficult to handle.

The patient's dreams often provide a good indicator of the danger of suicide. When individuals have fantasies in which death is a means of gratification, such as joining a loved one already dead, suicide is a great danger. The degree of suicidal intent is usually slight when spite and the desire for force affection are together the dominant motives. However, the factor of the intensity of the motive is just as important as its type.

Suicide may represent escape for persons who feel worthless and deserving of punishment. Some patients with delusions of guilt desire atonement and reinstatement in the eyes of someone else. For others, suicide is a flight from persistent haunting fear of punishment.

Many, but not all, patients preoccupied with thoughts of suicide are depressed. Loss of a loved object—which may be a person, money or position—is a common cause of the depression. Emotional imbalance results when the patient's self-esteem is dependent upon the relationship with the loved object. This relationship may have gratified infantile dependency needs and repressed feelings of fear, unworthiness, and helplessness. When the loved object is suddenly lost, the repressed feelings assume huge proportions before the individual can adapt.

Emotional readjustment and reintegration are particularly difficult for aged people as the personality becomes rigid. An old person may make feeble attempts to adjust for months or several years after death of a spouse and finally commit suicide.

A paranoid disposition frequently alternates with depression. During the paranoid period, the patient is concerned with alleged mistreatment and blames others for difficulties. However, the patient is likely to feel worthless and blame himself if a love relationship is not successful.

"It's For You—They Gotta Begin Somewhere"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—Government lawmakers and administrators, private bankers and businessmen, egghead economists and professor all have a new 72-billion-dollar riddle to rattle with.

The question is: How do you prevent inflation in a free enterprise economy during periods of full employment and expanding business, while there is a cold war going on which necessitates continued high government expenditures?

Nobody has come up with an answer to this. The reason is that it is too new. There has never been a need for an answer before. All these conditions never existed before.

Washington economists are therefore studying with interest what appears to be a first analysis of this subject.

It is an article, "Are Living Costs Out of Control?" in the February "Atlantic." It was written by John Kenneth Galbraith, wartime deputy price administrator. He's a former Fortune magazine editor, author of a book on the 1929 depression. He teaches economics at Harvard University.

DR. GALBRAITH doesn't have the answer to his own question, either. He merely states the problem. His conclusion is simply that the present efforts to control inflation don't work. The problem is to find something that will.

There are so-called direct and indirect methods of controlling inflation.

The direct methods are price, wage and credit controls such as were used in wartime.

The indirect methods include Federal Reserve Board regulation of the supply of money for bank loans, and tax increases to soak up money that would otherwise be spent, thus bidding up prices.

There is great reluctance to use direct controls in peacetime. But indirect controls have been used to a degree.

Corporation tax rates have been kept higher than business wants them. Recent efforts to reduce personal income taxes have been defeated in Congress. The "tight money" policy of the Federal Reserve Board has been in effect many months.

The apparent result of these efforts is that interest rates are now higher than they have been for 20 years and the cost of living has been creeping steadily upward.

Tight money also seems to have made it more difficult for small business to get loans. The decline in home building—which is largely a small business operation—is attributed by the construction industry to tight money policies.

Furthermore, as Dr. Galbraith points out, monetary policy makes no contact with the wage-price spiral. He therefore foresees the possibility that demand for everything will continue strong. In that case, wages, prices and profits will continue to push each other up for still more inflation.

Galbraith does mention one untried measure to check the wage-price spiral. It is to prohibit general price increases in any industry until six months after a wage increase is granted in a new labor contract. To balance this, there would have to be a requirement that wage increases could be granted only out of increased profits or productivity.

Dr. Galbraith thinks this would stop soft wage settlements that are automatically passed along to consumers in price rises.

In all probability, neither management nor labor would stand for any such drastic measures. But the whole thing does illustrate the fact that all inflationary controls hurt somebody.

Theoretically, tax rates could be put back to wartime levels. Money could be made even tighter. Price, wage and consumer credit controls could be imposed. And government spending could be reduced, if the country were willing to risk reduced national defense expenditures in this cold war period.

The practical trouble is that political pressure won't allow any of these methods of inflationary control to be used.

But if you don't use these things, what do you do? Inflation never has been talked out of existence by "jawbone controls," as Business Week calls them.

The Federal Reserve Board couldn't talk the stock market into behaving in 1929. President Hoover couldn't talk depression around the corner in 1931. And President Eisenhower probably can't talk big business and big labor into being voluntarily reasonable about price and wage increases today.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Feb. 26—I asked the Secretary of the Navy, Charles S. Thomas, for the names and affiliations of the union bosses who were flown by helicopter to and from the Carrier Antietam for a day of self-importance and fun, to the degradation of the officers and men. Two long replies to date from E. B. Taylor, chief of information of the Navy in the Pentagon, have given no names. Taylor has offered glib excuses, none worth the paper they are written on, to say nothing of the tolls from Washington, for submitting American servicemen, including a force of Marine fliers and naval submarine crews, to this humiliating duty.

The news coverage of this politico-social climax of the annual boozing and bloviating, with emphasis on the pretentious topic of ethics, was understandably meager. After all, the leaders of these rackets are familiar figures among that element of the wind-ter trade of the two Miamis which J. Edgar, in an inspired phrase, long ago called the criminal scum of the country, so a reporter would think of this as just another free-loading by a typical lot of union bums. But on a second glimpse it should have been plain that the Navy Department was beginning to slide up to the union rackets for the elections of 1958 and 1960 in the hope of alienating this rotten segment away from the Party of Humanity which enjoyed its money, muscle and mob-force all the way from 1936 to '56, inclusive.

My telegram to Thomas, after rubbing his nose in this disgusting outrage, plainly asked for the names and affiliations of all the union bosses thus exalted at national expense in money and honor. He turned me over to his official press agent but the press agent had good reasons to duck the issue. However, I have come with few names myself and first on the list is Joe Curran, of the National Maritime Union.

Thomas's press agent explained that "135 members of the executive council and executive officers of the AFL-CIO" were the Navy's guests to observe an anti-submarine show so that they could go back and tell their subjects what wonderful work the Navy Department and the Eisenhower-Willkie machine is doing to keep us from harm.

The implication was plain that these guys were the authorized representatives of the workers who create ships, aircraft and other equipment. This in itself was a bad rap on the Navy's brain-power because we all know that the high bosses of the racket never even shake hands with the poor slob who pay the dues and do the work. And, anyway, what is the matter with the press, the radio and TV?

Now this Curran was, throughout the war, as Red as a bloody nose, who declared in a letter to me his belief in a party line formally laid down one day by Elmer Davis, a drooling oracle of the Roosevelt regime, as the indisputable stigma of communism. Davis said that anyone who opposed preparation for the war as imperialist sympathy with Hitler as long as Hitler was chumming with Stalin, but began waving the bloody shirt the instant that Hitler struck Stalin, was a Communist. Well, that is exactly what Curran did week after week in his thin thirty Communist paper, called The Pilot. And when I nailed him in a letter he was stupid enough to write back over his name that the war ceased to be an imperialist aggression and became a people's war only when Hitler attacked Uncle Joe.

Not only that, but he carried on pro-Soviet propaganda throughout the war and gave the Coast Guard an awful time 000,000 over what it was three years ago.

5. In the international programs, diplomatic activities show an increase of $44,000,000, but even figuring this in and noting that economic aid has come down by $25,000,000 since 1954, it would appear that the net increase in foreign aid is about $19,000,000. This excludes an item of $500,000,000 which the United States government will be spending to redeem its previously given notes of that amount to the International Monetary Fund. Presumably these notes could be floated in the open market and an equal sum collected.

6. Interest on the public debt has gone up $834,000,000, and there is an item of $940,000,000 increase for general management costs in government.

7. Another group of proposed expenditures listed in the budget includes $1,086,000,000 for highways, about $623,000,000 for housing, and $212,000,000 to promote aviation, with a couple items of added expense in disaster relief amounting to $81,000,000 and $53,000,000 for civil defense against possible atom attacks.

What it all adds up to is about $12,500,000,000 more than was being spent three years ago, and a large part of it is directly related to congressional commitments to projects and policies initiated long before the present administration came into power. The annual expense now grows because prices have risen and costs are higher than ever before. Also, as the population increases, there are more individuals retired, more who are entitled to pensions and more children who attend schools and need free lunches, and so on all along the line.

Once Congress starts a line of federal expenditure, each Congress is up against the question either of stopping the whole project or meeting the added expense that each year brings.

The whole trouble is that in the New Deal and Fair Deal years, elections were won by claiming that humanitarianism demanded all these "welfare" programs, and now the uninformed voters—in a prosperous country, with states, cities and counties that ought to be able to take care of their own obligations in these fields of welfare—have put the major burden on the federal government.

The outlay is growing and growing, and there will be no tax relief till the country discovers that the federal government really cannot afford to keep on paying for things the local units of government ought really to be doing for their citizens. The chances are the local units would do it more economically, too, because they are closer to the picture, but, when Washington is doing out the money, every part of the country has its hands out to get its share of the "giveaways."

4. In the aid given to the farmers, the total is up $455-

in controlling Reds and other vermin who were supposed to be policed by the Coast Guard. The armed guard crews serving Navy guns on the freighters were persecuted in a million ways and American soldiers on the transports were fleeced for food from the crews' voluptuous mess to eke out their army chow, which often was very bad. Tons of wonderful food went over the side as garbage.

The actual sailors who ran these boats included many high-class American men and Curran's bums used to hide behind the fact that they were not claim credit for the conduct of people who loathed them.

I recall also the case of a woman patient who was raped in the sick bay of a ship bound for Norway after the war, and the frustration of the Coast Guard in its foredoomed effort to get the rodent hanged. The Reds on that bucket didn't know from nothing.

But the Navy now honors this Curran as a leader of American sailors. I have some more names, hunted out by my own resources with no assist from Thomas, who gets top responsibility for this affront, but space runs out. And in a few more days I may obtain the roster of 135 through a pro-American underground apparatus in the Navy Department.

CAREER DAY AT PENNEY'S—Three of the senior students of Kingston High School taking part in the annual Student Day at the local J. C. Penney store, 318 Wall street, on Friday, check over details with Jack Buffington, standing, store manager. Senior Students To Operate Local Store on Friday

Senior students from the retail merchandise class of Kingston High School will take over operation of the J. C. Penney's store, 318 Wall street, Friday.

18 Taking Part
Including the managers there will be 18 students who were elected by their classmates. Plans for the day were made with Loryne B. Connick, director of the business department of KHS and coordinator of Distributive Education at KHS and the local J. C. Penney store.

Each student will spend Friday putting into actual practice the daily duties of store associates in each department.

It is Penney's goal to give these students every opportunity to see and practice what they have been learning in school and to learn as much about the actual "goings on" in a retail department store as possible.

Each group, as in the past, endeavors to outdo the previous group in their own personal sales as well as their doing an outstanding job in running their part of the store. Everyone is cordially invited to stop in and see them in action Friday.

Some of the positions held by students are selling, stock count, cashing, receiving and unpacking freight, putting up displays and trimming store windows.

Students actually made their own newspaper advertisement to appear in Thursday's Freeman.

World News in Brief

Threat Is Bared

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today the Senate racks investigation has been threatened with death, and that the FBI is investigating.

McClellan said the man who got the threat is "Carl Elkins, who is in Arizona," brother of James Elkins, a Portland, Ore., bootlegger and gambler now before the Senate.

McClellan called the threat a challenge from the underworld "to law and order and to the power of the government of the United States."

Works on Compromise

United Nations, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The UN Middle East debate was suspended temporarily today while the United States worked on a compromise plan to get Israeli troops out of Egypt and the Gaza strip without resort to sanctions.

The 80-National General Assembly met this morning, but the president, Prince Wan Wai-thayakon of Thailand, announced that no delegates were ready to speak on the Israeli-Egyptian dispute.

The Assembly went ahead with a routine list of routine budgetary questions. It was expected to turn back to the Middle East problem later in the day.

Tugs Still Idle

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—Tugboats and other small craft that ordinarily chug busily about the New York harbor still were idle today in a strike approaching a record for the port.

Efforts to end the dispute continued.

The impasse between Local 333, United Marine Division, National Maritime Union, and the Marine Towing & Transportation Employers Assn. now is in its 27th day.

A 29-day walkout by longshoremen in 1954 was the longest strike in the waterfront's history. The longest previous tug strike was 12 days in 1946.

Charged With Bribe

Austin, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—State Rep. James E. Cox has been charged with agreeing to accept a bribe after a physician complained to state officials that Cox offered to kill a medical bill for $5,000.

Dr. Howard Harmon of San Antonio, president of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn., said yesterday Cox offered to withdraw a bill in the Texas Legislature for that sum. The bill, authored by Cox, would repeal a statute regulating naturopaths and in effect, would put them out of business in Texas.

Naturopaths use natural therapy rather than drugs or surgery in healing.

Signal System Is In Operation for City Standpipes

A new signal device aimed at giving quick notice of standpipe overflows in the city will be in operation soon, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, revealed today.

Installation of the signal system at police headquarters began yesterday. Signals will flash at police headquarters when a tank overflows or any irregularity occurs at the Florence street or 12th ward tank.

The water department will be notified immediately when signals flash on the system and remedial action can be taken at once. The unit, which operates electricity on a basis of water pressure changes, was designed by Bogert & Childs, a New York firm of consulting engineers, which does work for the local department.

Beacons in the Night

Middlesboro, Ky. (AP)—Hearing an airplane circle about the town at night, residents here knew what to do. One hundred motorists headed for the airport, lined up their cars on either side of the landing strip, and kept their lights burning. The pilot made a perfect landing and then stepped a Middlesboro physician who had been helping staff a clinic in Knoxville, Tenn. Why the need for the motorists? The airport has no facilities for night landings.

Harriman's Plan Might Raise Rents On 339,000 Units

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—A CIO leader asserted today that "as many" as 339,000 one and two-family apartment units might be subject to rent increases if Gov. Harriman's rent proposals were adopted.

The Democratic governor has put the figure between 10,000 and 15,000.

The CIO, long friendly to Harriman, has fought his rent program. The union contended previously that 250,000 families could be charged higher rents under the Harriman plan.

Today's figure was given by Morris Iushewitz, secretary-treasurer of the New York City CIO Council, in a statement prepared for a public hearing called by the Republican-dominated temporary state commission on rents.

Hundreds of landlords converged on the capitol for the afternoon hearing. Debate was expected to be lively.

Extension of rent controls for two years appears assured.

Majority Leader Joseph F. Carino, who will preside at the hearing as commission chairman, favors extension to July 1, 1959, as do other Republican legislative leaders.

Harriman not only wants the law extended but seeks restoration of controls to converted dwellings and action to plug what he terms "loopholes."

Carino Opposed

The GOP is against strengthening the law. Carino said last weekend he did not favor Harriman's plan to restore controls. Carino called also for removal of controls from apartments renting for $150 a month as they become vacant.

Harriman proposes that owners of all controlled property be allowed to use a revised formula for computing rents. The change would shift the base of valuation of property from 1953 to 1954 equalization rates.

Iushewitz said there were 277,000 one and two-family units under rent control in New York city and 61,260 upstate. Using the 1954 rates, Iushewitz asserted, could increase the property value for rent-fixing purposes as much as 79.6 per cent for 14,354 units in Syracuse and 46 per cent for 93,332 units in Queens.

Cites Other Areas

Iushewitz cited these other areas, with what he said was the percentage of possible increase in valuation and the number of units involved.

Brooklyn, 32 per cent, 128,466 units; Richmond, 44 per cent, 15,721 units; Utica, 61.3 per cent, 7,544 units; and Westchester, 40 per cent, 27,753 units.

Iushewitz said use of the new formula could "touch off a series of rent increases that could knock the props from under rent control."

Controls now are in effect in New York city and in all or parts of 17 counties outside the city.

Iushewitz backed Harriman in his bid to close the loopholes and to restore controls.

Hits Lack of Facts

"A decent shelter at a fair price," he declared, "is not a privilege. It is a right of every resident of this state."

The Community Service Society of New York city decried the lack of facts on the rent situation.

It said that, without these facts, "it is not possible to specify which rent levels and types of apartments may now safely be decontrolled, without causing material damage to the community at large."

The society urged that the commission be authorized to make a "comprehensive" study of occupancy and rental conditions. The group said it favored a two-year extension of the law.

Pair Forfeit Bail, Two Drivers Fined

Two drivers, arrested on charges of speeding, forfeited bail through failure to appear in city court today, and two others were fined.

Lawrence F. Lewis, 22, of RD 2, Box 129, New Paltz, who was arrested on Wall street by officers George Dougherty and John Crespinio, paid a fine of $20, and Geraldine S. Reed, 29, of Pine street, Forest Glen Park, arrested Monday on East Chester street by officers Dougherty and Charles McCullough paid a $15 fine.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)

A quiet and irregular stock market, leaning slightly on the lower side, provided a contrasting background today for a few wide-ranging issues to appear as star performers.

Most price changes were in a narrow range and closely balanced between gains and losses. Motors pushed gently higher but other major sections of the list were mixed.

On the American Stock Exchange the trend was higher in slow trading.

Corporate bonds rose in quiet trading.

U. S. government bonds eased in light dealings.

JTB Solves Bust Problem

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Put yourself in the North position. Your partner has opened one no-trump and you have a bust with six spades. You know that two spades must be the least unsatisfactory contract for your side, but how can you get there and no further?

The Jacoby transfer bid solves your problem. You respond two hearts and your partner must go to two spades. Now you pass. He may glare at you but he can't bid any more because he won't get another chance.

West had a most unsatisfactory hand to lead from and finally selected the four of hearts. South won with the queen, laid down the ace and trumped a third heart. His next plays were the ace and a small trump. West won with the king and led his fourth heart. Dummy ruffed and East overruled.

East shifted to his fourth best club. South took the ace and returned the suit. West went up with the king since he was certain that his partner held the queen and led the jack. East overtook giving his side its fourth trick and led the deuce of diamonds.

South made the correct guess and played the jack thereby making his two spade contract.

It would have been possible to get to two spades without the use of the JTB provided North and South played the two spade response to a no-trump as a complete sign off. In that case South would have been declarer, there would not have been an initial heart lead toward the ace-queen and North and South would almost surely have wound up with a minus score.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received an interesting letter from a new resident of Port Ewen. She writes in part: "Being newcomer to the neighborhood, I have become an interested reader of your column."

One of your articles lately spoke of 'the Skillypot'. My neighbors have told me tales of what they call 'the Skillypot' would you do an article on it? I would like to know how it got its name, etc., I send all interesting articles, about a new neighborhood, to my family in North Georgia. They enjoy any information about by new surroundings and feel really acquainted with the new section." There is no end of stories about that little ferry which was connected by two chains to both sides of the Rondout Creek yet had to have a licensed pilot. The official name of the ferry was "River-side" and sometimes spelled "River side." It seems it was repaired and re-painted a number of times in its life and each time the artist suited himself as to the spelling. The way I heard it explained was that Skillypot or Skillyput is the Dutch name for Turtle-shell which the ferry looked like.

I am sure once Mrs. Semlar lets it be known that she is interested to learn more about the Skillyput her friends and neighbors in Port Ewen will corner her and tell her lots of stories about that interesting little boat. For dates, her last trip was on October 14, 1922, although the Rondout Creek Bridge had been opened since November 29, 1921. On October 25, 1922, the Riverside was beached on the Sleightsburg side of the creek for good.

The Hasbrouck family who owned it then for some half century, sold it to John A. Fisher, of Rondout. The famous engine built in 1854 was sold to Henry Ford for his Museum at Dearborn, Mich., where it is said, to be on display. I always felt the entire ferry should have remained right here on display for our own Marine Museum, which I hope someday we will have. With that should have been the famous, Queen of the Hudson, the Mary Powell, on which queens and kings from foreign countries sailed up the Hudson. Also the Norwich, the old Ice King, and the replica of the Clermont, whose parts also took wings to the Dearborn Museum. The fare on the ferry boat was

Heart Fund Has 23 PC of Goal Collected Now

With four days of Heart Month still remaining, William S. Keyser, chairman of the 1957 Heart Fund campaign, reported Monday that the collections in Ulster county to date amounts to $3,806.43. This is 23 per cent of the goal.

"At the present rate after all mail contributions and other proceeds are in, we are sure we will make our goal," the chairman pointed out.

"Our progress to date is encouraging not only financially but educationally as well," Mr. Keyser said. "For as part of the Heart Fund campaign, we hope that residents of our community will realize two essential facts: the first, is that the heart diseases are a serious health problem which concerns each individual and each family group; the second, is that with the funds to support extensive research, education and community service programs, we can progress in one long term effort to control those diseases."

In Ulster county, Lloyd Township is the only one where Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, was observed as a day of solicitation. Visitors there made collections from their neighbors—if they were not at home envelopes were left at the homes and were asked to mail their contribution in to the treasurer, Robert Jennings.

In the rest of the county, residents are asked to contribute through the mail appeal letter which was sent to thousands of homes.

In Ulster county monies contributed for the Heart Fund are used—for medical research, education, free heart diagnostic procedures and tests and a rheumatic fever control program for children who are given free penicillin.

Mr. Keyser, general chairman, and the various township chairmen ask that Ulster county folks read their appeal letter and learn more about the worthwhile program carried on for their heart and that of their family and all residents of Ulster county.

Virginia's Natural Bridge originally was owned by Thomas Jefferson.

Woodstock Man Testifies During Security Probe

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—A woman artist has told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee she served as an intermediary between President Roosevelt and Communist Earl Browder during World War 2.

Miss Josephine Truslow Adams of New York testified before the subcommittee in a closed hearing Jan. 16. The testimony was released yesterday.

Was Close Friend
Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, said Browder told him two weeks ago in New York that Miss Adams' testimony was correct.

Frank Meyer of Woodstock, N. Y., self-described former Communist functionary, told the subcommittee yesterday that Miss Adams was a "very close friend" of both Roosevelt and Browder.

Meyer also said that he and Miss Adams "acted and talked as Communists together."

Miss Adams said on one occasion Browder gave her a paper, intended for Roosevelt, stating that Chinese in Chiang-kai-shek's government were using materials and troops to fight Communists instead of Japan, then at war with the United States and China. It was not brought out whether the paper was delivered.

Visited FDR Home
Miss Adams told the subcommittee she often visited Roosevelt at the White House and at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home. She said it "became a routine, almost."

She said she stayed overnight at Hyde Park "several times," but never at the White House.

Browder, former No. 1 Communist in the United States, was released from prison in May 1942 after Roosevelt commuted a sentence for passport fraud.

Muriel de Pasquale Reported Improving

Miss Pasquale was a passenger in a car operated by Peter Fisher, 22, of Liberty street, Kingston. The car went out of control at Highland Circle and struck a utility pole, it was reported.

Miss Pasquale suffered a fractured pelvis, dislocated hip and severe lacerations. She is employed at IBM.

P-TA Council Is Given Charter; Hears History

The Kingston Parent-Teacher Association Council became one of the 117 units throughout New York state to become affiliated with the State Congress of Parents and Teachers when a charter was presented to the local organization Monday night at Kingston High School.

The official presentation was made by Mrs. Ruth Meek, Central Hudson District director.

Mrs. Douglas Rider of Delmar, fifth vice-president of the SCTP, described the important link P-TA's have become over the years since the founding of the group by Mrs. McClellan Berney.

Officers Nominated

The nominating committee made its report including Mrs. Raymond Gilkey for president, Gerald Shampo, vice-president; Mrs. Howard Ivis, treasurer; and Keron O'Neil, secretary.

The local group sought option on the possibility of holding a Founder's Day program next year when five or six schools in the city would meet for dinner and announce the winner of the first life member award. The first such award was made Monday night to Capt. Edward Albrecht.

4 Main Policies
Mrs. Rider said there are four main policies established for P-TA's: that they be non-sectarian; non-political; non-commercial and the most important, non-interfering with school administration, instead, working in friendly cooperation, parent, teacher and student.

Mrs. Rider pointed out that the theme of the State Congress of Parents and Teachers is "Knowledge, Understanding and Action," and that conferences and conventions provide ways of coming together to talk about mutual problems and that the State Congress has a Legislative Committee for action; all these things carrying out the theme.

"The greatest thing an individual unit receives by belonging to the council," said Mrs. Rider, "is the opportunity to present necessary information to parents and the community so that people can know and act intelligently on issues concerning the educational welfare of children."

She related that many a building program would have gone awry without this informational channel operating effectively. Closely related to this is the value of concerted effort of all units making up the council, when working on particular projects for the welfare of children generally in the community, such as TB tests, movie program. Councils also act as clearing houses where individual units come together to talk over their problems, giving and receiving help from one another and as Mrs. Rider said when a council underwrites something for a community, it has greater import and strength than when one small segment of parents and teachers try to do this.

Work Rewarding
Mrs. Rider concluded by indicating that from her own experience in P-TA work, it proved to be, next to church work, the most rewarding kind—that which has some part in the field of education and community relations.

Mrs. Meek also explained the differences between the Jenkins Memorial Scholarship Fund and the Student Loan Fund. The Jenkins Fund was established in 1947 by Mrs. Jenkins, a former State Congress president, in honor of her son killed in World War 2 who would have become an elementary teacher. The scholarship makes an outright gift of $300 for four years to a student training to be an elementary teacher. The student must be a New York state graduate, attend an accredited teacher's college and guarantee to teach two years.

The Student Loan Fund loans to a student going to any school up to $1,200, maximum of $600 in any one year with interest at two per cent.

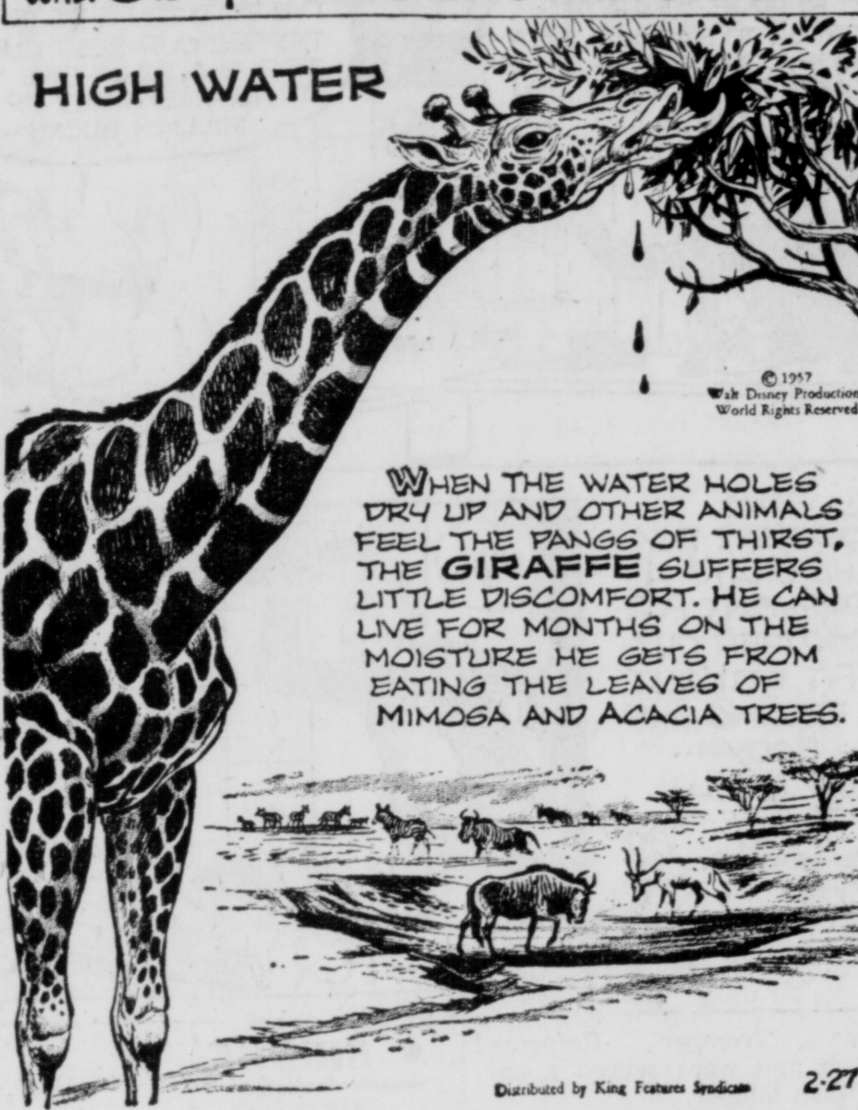

Refreshments were served by Gerard Shampo, Mrs. Roger Baer Schwartz and Mrs. Belle Massell.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The cash position of the treasury Feb. 21, 1957: Balance, $3,399,821,219.98; deposits fiscal year July 1, $42,797,091,987.95; withdrawals fiscal year, $48,879,072,265.50 total debt, (x) $276,065,656,125.38; gold assets, $22,302,764,849.69; (x) includes $451,964,857.11 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Goshen Woman Is Convicted of Larceny

She is free in $1,000 bail pending sentencing. No date has been set.

Miss Millsbaugh was convicted in County Court yesterday on six counts of a 12-count indictment charging grand larceny and misappropriation of funds.

Fog Disrupts Flights

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—Heavy fog and drizzle disrupted air and harbor traffic in the metropolitan area early today. Idlewild Airport and LaGuardia Field reported numerous cancellations and delays of outbound planes and diversions of inbound planes. Ferries between Staten Island and the Battery were reported running five to six minutes behind schedule.

Yvonne, generally believed to be a French girl's name, is not that at all. It is the Hebrew name for "Grace of the Lord."

Savings Bonds Goal in County Is $1,853,700

A year-round campaign to achieve its 1957 goal of $1,853,700 in sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds has been undertaken in Ulster county, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster County Savings Bonds Committee, announced today.

The national Savings Bonds goal for this year is $5 billion and the New York State quota is $501 million.

The campaign will seek to boost purchases of E and H Bonds over-the-counter at banks and by the automatic payroll savings plan which many business and industrial firms throughout the county maintain as a service to their employees.

Ike Urges Purchase

Referring to a recent conference of state Savings Bonds chairmen in Washington, John D. Lockton, treasurer of General Electric Company and New York State Savings Bonds chairman, wrote to Mr. Edelmuth that "President Eisenhower, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and others vigorously re-emphasized the importance of the Bond program in maintaining a stable economy."

"All of us," Mr. Lockton wrote, "left with a deeper appreciation of the real importance of the Bond sales program at this time."

Pledges Support

Pledging the continuing support of Ulster County's volunteer Savings Bonds Committee, Mr. Edelmuth said: "The importance of the Savings Bonds program to the financial health of America has been highlighted by the Treasury's recent proposal to Congress for legislation providing for an increase in the interest rate for Bonds sold after February 1, 1957. These proposed improvements would add to the virtues of Savings Bonds that have been evident for many years—their absolute safety, guaranteed return and convenience of purchase through banks and the automatic payroll savings plan."

"By continuing to invest in these shares in America, we will help keep our country strong and free. I am confident Ulster county will do its share in reaching our 1957 goal."

The folk song, "Waltzing Matilda," is Australia's most famous song.

Reject Phone Pact

Portsmouth, Ohio, Feb. 27 (AP)—Striking workers in the Portsmouth Local of the Communications Workers of America early this morning rejected a union-management agreement to end the long, violence-marked telephone strike in southeast Ohio. Robert Arnett, president of Local 4372, said the vote was 117-48 against a "back to work" agreement reached Sunday by negotiators for the CWA and the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. Members reportedly favored terms of the proposed new contract, but were opposed to any settlement until the company changes its position on 19 discharged employees.

Verdict Is Given In Death of New Paltz Vol

Death of a 32-year-old volunteer fireman Monday morning during a fire that destroyed the home of Victor Riche in Gardiner was due to "acute coronary insufficiency with mild carbon monoxide intoxication," according to a verdict issued by Coroner Francis J. McCauley.

Theodore Wisniewski of Box 592, Libertyville road, New Paltz, a member of the Gardiner Fire Department, was apparently overcome by smoke while chopping through the roof of the two-story frame residence, it was reported at the time.

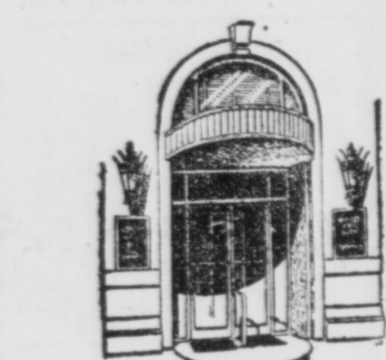

The coroner's verdict was based on a post-mortem examination and laboratory analysis performed by the coroner's medical staff.

'Fainted' on Roof

Mr. Wisniewski, who is survived by his wife and a five-year-old son, was "ventilating the roof" with another fireman of the Gardiner company, William E. Hanson, when he suddenly "fainted," it was reported. Firemen administered artificial respiration for more than an hour before Dr. William Pughlin of New Paltz pronounced him dead.

The funeral will be held Friday from the Cornell Funeral Home, Brooklyn, with a Mass of requiem at St. Sylvester's Church, Brooklyn. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Brooklyn. Today and tomorrow friends may call at the Cornell Funeral Home.

LEAVING BEFORE SPEAKER IS FINISHED

A reader writes me as follows:

"The other day a friend and I went to a lecture at the town hall. The speaker was a rather notable person and I was very much interested in hearing him speak. The lecture did not start on time and he spoke much longer than I had anticipated. As I had to be home at a certain time I couldn't stay any longer and finally got up and left as quietly as possible. My friend thinks I was unforgivably rude for having walked out while he was still speaking and said that having gone to the lecture I should have remained until he had finished. Will you please give me your opinion?"

It was unfortunate that you had to leave, but it couldn't be helped because of your obligations at home, there was nothing to do but leave as quickly and quietly as possible. The unusual length of time he spoke was sufficient excuse to any thinking person of why you had to leave.

A Questionable Present

Dear Mrs. Post: Could hand lotion be considered an insult as a present? I have a relative who has very chapped hands and I'm going to spend the weekend with her and thought some good hand cream might be a nice week-end gift to take her, but I certainly don't want to hurt her feelings.

Answer: If she ever has talked about how easily her hands chap, then taking something that you know would help would surely show special thought. Otherwise, it would seem better to choose something else.

When National Anthem Is Sung

Dear Mrs. Post: When the Star Spangled Banner is sung by a soloist before the opening of a sports event, convention or any such public function, it is proper to applaud when he (or she) has finished singing?

Answer: While still standing, it is correct to applaud the singer briefly and then sit down.

Many girls ask for directions for filling a hope chest. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau," includes a list of essential items. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Methodists Are Urged by Bishop To Spur Activity

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Methodist church could write a still better record if local churches functioned more effectively, the annual meeting of the church's general board of Evangelism was told today.

"For all the excellent record which Methodism writes as a denomination, those who know her well know that she could write a better record still," said Bishop Roy H. Short of Nashville, Tenn.

"Our churches that have drifted into a status-quo condition need to be spurred to new activity and fresh dedication," Bishop Short said.

"Our churches which are losing ground need to be helped to reverse this process. And hundreds of our smaller churches need to be brought to a fresh realization of their actual potentialities."

Stresses Training
Bishop Short said the church hopes to make 1957 the greatest year in leadership training in its history.

Dr. Harry Denman of Nashville, general secretary of the board, told the meeting yesterday that the church's membership gain of 1.4 per cent last year was lagging behind the country's estimated annual population gain of two per cent.

"We need to go to the new communities and start new churches," he said. "We need to follow the people."

Dr. Denman said present membership of the Methodist Church, largest Protestant denomination in the country, was approximately 9,445,000. The gain last year was 132,000.

DOUGLAS GRAND RAPIDS GULLISTAN VALENTINE-SEEVER

Envoy Recalled From Hungary

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The United States disclosed today it is calling home its minister to Hungary, Edward T. Wailes. He rejected accusations made against him in a demand for his removal by the Hungarian Red regime.

As a dispatch from Budapest described Wailes' departure as a snub for the government of Premier Janos Kadar.

Wailes arrived in Budapest last Nov. 2, just two days before Soviet Army forces reentered Budapest to crush a people's revolt against Moscow domination.

However, on orders from the State Department, he never presented his credentials. This is a formality which protocol requires to install a diplomat in his post.

The State Department announced Wailes is "returning to the United States for consultation."

It said a formal note was delivered to the Red regime in Budapest today stating Wailes has left Hungary and rejecting Hungarian charges that his activities had been "irreconcilable with international practice."

CHARTER PRESENTATION—A charter honoring Cub Scout Pack 4 of Fair Street Reformed Church on its first anniversary Blue and Gold dinner this week is given by Robert Greene, neighborhood commissioner, second from right, to Harlow DeForest, institutional representative. Pack 4 Observes First Anniversary

Cub Scout Pack 4, sponsored by the Fair Street Reformed Church, celebrated its first anniversary at its Blue and Gold banquet last Monday evening.

Guest of honor was Jerry Blair, new Scout executive for Rip Van Winkle Council. This was his first official visit to any Scout affair in this area, having just assumed office the same day.

Other guests were the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra of the Fair Street Reformed Church; Neighborhood Commissioner Robert Greene; Earl Frivold, Scoutmaster of Troop 4; and Harlow DeForest, institutional representative.

After opening with the Salute to the Flag, the invocation was given by Mr. Blair. A ham and covered dish supper was then served. Committee chairman Sam Fraton introduced the guests. Mr. Fraton also presented a history of the pack, and color slides were shown that depicted some of the outstanding events of the past year.

The new charter was given by Mr. Blair to Mr. Greene, who in turn presented it to Mr. DeForest, who accepted it in the name of the church. Cubmaster Herbert Herdman and Mr. Fraton accepted the charter for the Pack.

During the Court of Honor Ceremony, under the direction of Cubmaster Herdman and Assistant Cubmaster Pete Emerick, the following awards were presented to the boys: Bobcat Pin—Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, William Basett; Wolf many dealers were filling their fresh milk needs by diverting milk normally used for cream, condensed milk and ice cream.

The Rev. John W. Dorney, executive secretary of the guild, predicted that the strike would widen with some 25,000 dairymen participating by Saturday. His claim was disputed by leaders of other dairymen's organizations.

1,900 Won't Join
The Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives in Syracuse, N. Y., said "all responsible dairy farmers organizations in this milkshed are opposed to this strike. The United Milk Producers, claiming a membership of 1,900 in New Jersey, said it would take no part in the boycott."

There were reports, however, that the Dairy Farmers of America, with 2,000 members, might join the strike.

The guild is demanding payment of $3.75 per hundredweight of milk, or about 12.4 cents a quart. Dorney, a Congregational minister, said the new price would barely cover the cost of production. The present price per hundredweight is $4.57 or about 9.8 cents a quart.

Milk retails in New York city for about 24 or 25 cents a quart. Processing and distribution costs accounts for the difference, dealers said.

Turncoat Quits Reds

Hong Kong, Feb. 27 (AP)—The youngest American turncoat of the Korean war left Red China today saying he quit the Communist mainland in disgust over the "wanton killing by Russia in Hungary." Samuel David Hawkins, now 23, declared he had made it plain to the Red Chinese authorities he wanted to leave because of the Soviet Union's action in putting down the Hungarian rebellion last fall. The Oklahoma City youth told reporters the Chinese did not try to stop him. Hawkins is the seventh to come home of 21 U. S. soldiers who were captured during the Korean fighting and chose to remain with the Communists. One, David China and 13 are still there.

May Be Missing Boy

Philadelphia, Feb. 27 (AP)—Detectives today looked into the possibility that the unidentified small boy, whose battered body was found in a cardboard box here, may have been Steven Craig Damman, kidnapped from outside a Long Island, N. Y., supermarket in 1955. The boy's nude body, covered with bruises, was found yesterday on a rubbish-strewn vacant lot in the northeastern part of Philadelphia. He appeared between four and six years of age. The Damman boy, son of an airman stationed at Mitchell Field, Long Island, disappeared when he was 34 months old.

Division Occurs

Abrams, a Harriman appointee.

Situations Not Covered
Harriman has been stumping for creation of a state-operated fund that would indemnify victims of hit-and-run, stolen-car and uninsured out-of-state drivers. These situations are not covered by the new compulsory insurance law.

The governor's plan envisaged a five-million-dollar fund that would be raised by assessing each motorist an additional $1 at registration time.

The insurance industry has opposed the plan on the ground that the state, in effect, would be getting into the insurance business.

Under the Heck compromise plan, a private corporation would be created to administer a fund. The corporation would comprise companies, who would contribute to it—thus the extra charge on insurance premiums.

Lefkowitz, Heck and Mahoney made it plain in their statement that the GOP leadership would not grant the expanded powers for SCAD that Harriman has demanded.

They maintained that their proposal would "increase the prestige and effectiveness" of the commission and that it involved "absolutely no diminution of the existing powers and functions" of SCAD.

Their statement asserted that SCAD had been most effective as "a non-partisan judge" that listened to both the complainant and accused.

This role would be seriously impaired, if not destroyed, were the commission given authority to become the complainant also, they contended.

Abrams declared there was "nothing new" in the GOP plan. He said the attorney general had been empowered for 11 years to file anti-bias complaints but never had done so.

Abrams argued also that a "civil rights bureau" would create confusion about where complaints should be filed.

Denies Beer Fattens, Warns on Tax, Ad Ban

San Francisco, Feb. 27 (AP)—Miss Lillian Madden, president of the Falls City Brewing Co. at Louisville, contended yesterday "beer is very definitely a food and in itself could not be called fattening."

"There is no 'fat' content in beer at all, which is the reason why it can be recommended on a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet," she told the 81st annual convention of the U. S. Brewers Foundation.

"An eight-ounce glass of beer contains only 104 calories," Miss Madden said. The same glass of beer contains protein, minerals like calcium, phosphorus and sodium, and assorted vitamins.

Delegates also heard warnings that proposed advertising restraints and tax increases could make beer too expensive for the ordinary man.

Joseph Griesedieck, president of the Falstaff Brewing Co. of St. Louis, said "costs are rising and still we have to keep our product low enough in price for the man with the so-called beer income."

"If taxes go up, we can't absorb them. The consumer will have to pay in increased cost for his bottled beer."

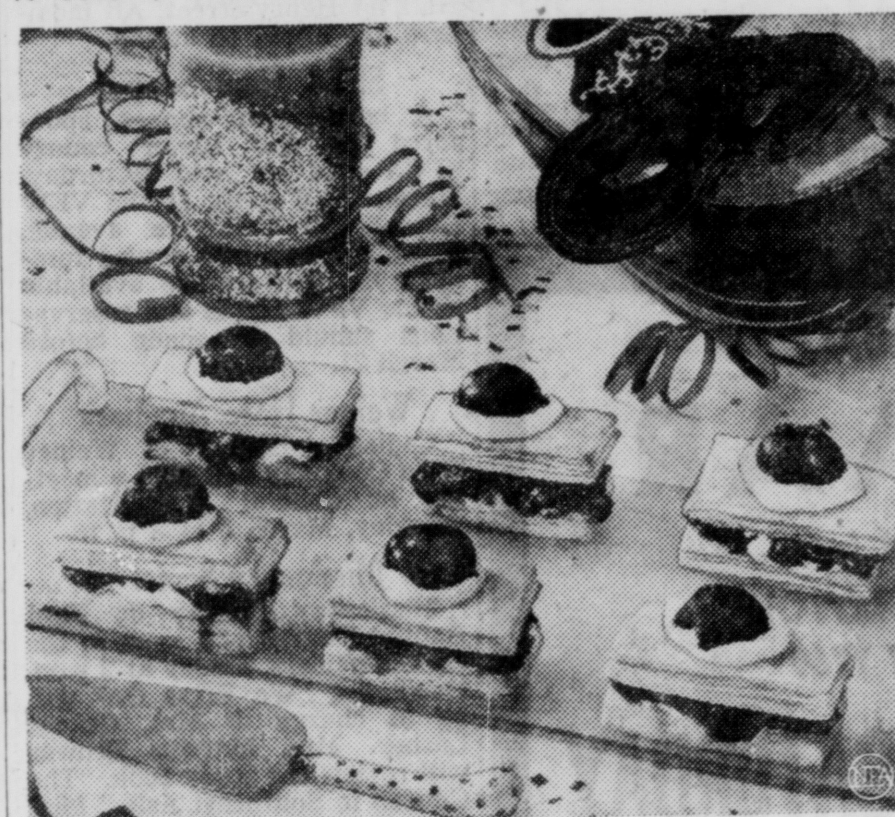

"That is why bills to increase beer taxes, such as the one before the California legislature, are opposed by the industry," he said.

He said renewed proposals to prevent advertising of alcoholic beverages in interstate commerce are "dangerous foot-in-the-door" tactics of professional prohibitionists.

On the matter of European defense, Eisenhower and Mollet reportedly agreed that any proposal for a reduction of North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) forces would have to be discussed at length with the NATO commander and the other countries in the alliance.

Mollet was to outline his government's views about the Middle East and other international problems in a formal address before the National Press Club. Later, he was to be introduced on the floor of the United States Senate.

Insurance Firm Says Life Span on Increase

The average length of life among the industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company rose to a new high of 70.2 years in 1956. This is slightly above the figure for 1955 and represents an increase of 24 years since 1909, the company announced today in New York city.

For nearly two generations, the average length of life has been increasing more rapidly among American wage earners and their families than for the general population of the United States. In 1909, the average lifetime of the Metropolitan's industrial policyholders was about six years less than that for the population as a whole. Since then, the disparity has been narrowing; at present the two groups are on a par.

Home Guidance Is Main Force on Delinquent Youth

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—High school principals were told today that "every young person is potentially a delinquent."

"Whether he grows up to become one," said Howard F. Horner, a Portland, Ore., principal, "is determined by what he is taught in his home, by his friends and by others in the community."

Most important Horner said in speech prepared for the National Assn. of secondary-school principals, is what he is taught at home.

"It is the home where attitudes toward others, ethical standards and a code of behavior are established," Horner said. And if a youngster does go bad, he said, the home "is the most difficult place to effect an improvement."

Shirk Responsibility
Horner added:

"Most parents of problem children are unwilling to accept responsibility for their child's acts. Or they assume a protective attitude in which they defend the youngster even after it has been proven he is in the wrong."

"The great cry is: 'He is a good boy, but the others got him into trouble.'"

"This is even the case where the youngster may have a record of previous crimes and be the oldest in the group involved."

Horner minimized the character-building influence of school and church. Their influence is important, he said, "but is not sufficient to overcome the constant pressures of home and friends if these are contradictory to those of the school and church."

Many Not Church Goers
"In many cases," Horner added, "the church does not enter into the problem at all, inasmuch as the parents or children do not attend."

He continued: "Active prevention of delinquency among teen-agers calls for an additional effort on the part of taxpayers to provide the extra personnel and service to counsel with and educate parents when the first symptoms are detected—but it would be worth it."

TV Knowledge Helps
New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—Alwyn Barnett, 44, put knowledge he culled from a television show to good use yesterday. He stayed inside his car when an overhead trolley wire snapped and draped itself over his vehicle. He said a TV commentator recently advised doing nothing if such a situation arose. Barnett waited 40 minutes before a New York Transit Authority crew showed up, turned off the power and released him.

Chrysler Strike Averted

Detroit, Feb. 27 (AP)—Company and union officials, in a joint statement early today, said agreement had been reached resolving all strike issues between the Chrysler Corp.'s Dodge Division and the United Auto Workers Union. Settlement of the dispute ended a walkout threat that would have idled 100,000 Chrysler employees. Norman R. Matthews, UAW vice president and John D. Leary, Chrysler labor relations director, said the agreement will be signed later today. Terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—Three Rikers island penitentiary inmates have been freed—the first to be rewarded among four score recommended for special consideration for their aid to survivors of a plane crash on the island which took 20 lives.

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

OUT OUR WAY

OUR BOARDING HOUSE . . with . . MAJOR HOOPLE

Trade Mark Reg. By Junius

When good King Arthur ruled the land of Britain, he had a goodly throng of knights. Devoted they were to the king, but of each other very jealous. Quarrel followed quarrel as to precedence at the king's table. The king tired of the bickering, and could ill spare those who had died fighting over who should sit nearest the head of the table.

King Arthur had a solution. He built a round table to seat the knights, so that all might be equal. Tradition says that henceforth all went well. Instead of fighting each other, they all fought for the king.

Blessed be King Arthur and his Round Table. Little Tommy had spent his first day at school. Mother (when he returned home) - What happened at school today, Tommy?

Tommy - Oh, nothin'. A woman wanted to know how to spell "cat" and I told 'er.

Whenever I feel that I have time by the forelock, I think of an enlightening experience of 1953. My young son accosted me one day with a snapshot. I recognized the picture as one of my wife and me taken before we were married. I always had rated it a faithful likeness.

"Good picture, isn't it?" I said. He agreed that it was. "But who," he wanted to know, "is that guy with mother?"

NFA Defeats Beacon, 54-47

Warming up for its important DUSO League game at Liberty Friday, Newburgh Academy dumped Beacon High, 54-47, in a non-league game last night.

The victory was No. 13 as against 4 defeats for the Goldbacks who will be shooting to clinch the DUSO championship against the Redskins.

Bill Cotton hit 15, John Currey 12 and Al Beccaccio 10 for the winners. Willie Pickens of Beacon was high for the game with 24. Teammate Bob Galletta notched 10.

Newburgh led through every quarter by 18-14, 31-29 and 45-43. Both teams had trouble finding the hoop in the final period as they made a combined total of 13 points.

Victory Boosts Hopes of Making Intersectionals

Smith, Grimaldi, Uhl, Strong, Johnson Star

Section Nine's No. 2 representative to the Intersectionals basketball playoffs will be determined once and for all in a showdown Friday at Middletown when Kingston High opposes the Middies.

The stage was set by Kingston High's 59-53 victory over Liberty and Ellenville 46-45 upset of Middletown in featured DUSO League action last night.

Friday's victor earns the right to face Albany High, Section Two's No. 1 team, March 8 at Kate Walton field house. On the same evening, at the Troy field house, Newburgh meets either Nott Terrace or Mont Pleasant. NFA has already clinched Section Two's top spot, while the two Schenectady teams are currently snarled for the upstate runnerup berth. The championship finals are a week later here or at Troy depending on the outcome of opening round play.

Also, as a result of the play, Kingston and Ellenville moved into a tie for fourth place with Liberty and Middletown. Each possess 8-7 marks and have one game left to play.

The victory of Kingston's, which was achieved in the Maroon's final regular season local appearance was marked by another tremendous team effort. Coach Jack Gilligan employed his five iron men almost exclusively and they shone in every department. Joe Klonowski was the only reserve who played and he was used sparingly.

Four of the regulars hit for double figures, while the fifth—Bob Strong—made up for his scoring shortcomings in all-around brilliance. Bob Smith was the pace-setter with 16, Tony Grimaldi and George Uhl each had 14 and Larry Johnson 10. Strong made 5.

Lawrence Pace-Setter
Liberty, paced by pint-sized scoring whiz Johnny Lawrence, outshined the locals from the field 22-22. But Kingston made up the difference at the foul line, sinking a brilliant 17 of 21 attempts to the Redskins' lackluster 5 of 13.

Kingston, although never behind, tied a few times, had to labor all the way to win. The visitors hung on before succumbing. They trailed in each quarter by close margins of 18-14, 36-26 and 48-40.

Lawrence carried the Redskins in the first half, scoring 19 of their 26 points, but was bottled up after that. He had a field day with set-shots against KHS's zone defense, sinking 9 shots, but when the Maroons switched on him to man-forman in the second half he was stopped cold.

Uhl, Smith Do Job
Uhl and Smith took turns hawking him on the outside and when he broke loose for an attempt underneath, Grimaldi was there to greet him and usually succeeded in blocking his shot. The little dynamo only scored one basket and a brace of free throws against the airtight checking.

Center Kevin Moloney, who stands a rangy 6-6, hit a dozen points for the only other double column scoring effort for the visitors. Jack Thompson and Deming Payne each chipped in with 8 for the next best performance.

The setback may have cost the Redskins a chance of qualifying for the Class B Sectional playoffs. Their last game is with NFA and the Goldbacks will be going all out to win and clinch the title. If Liberty does lose, the Blue Devils will get the nod. If both playoff aspirants bow, then there will be a play-off. The same thing goes if they each win.

Robby Was Key To Giant Trade
St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Frank Lane, St. Louis Cardinal general manager, says the New York Giants wouldn't have agreed to the Whitey Lockman-Hoyt Wilhelm trade if the Jackie Robinson deal of two months ago hadn't fallen through.

The Giants needed Lockman because of a problem at first base. They expected Robinson, the aging Brooklyn star, to play 100 games at first base for them after announcing the Dec. 13 deal for Robinson in which they gave up pitcher Dick Littlefield and $30,000, Lane said.

The following month, Robinson announced his retirement.

Osowick Sets DUSO Point Mark

Alex Osowick erased the old DUSO League scoring record for one season of 424 points as he paced Port Jervis to a lopsided 66-48 win over Monticello Monday at the Monties' gym. The game was originally scheduled for last evening, but was moved up by a last minute switch.

The talented center collected 36 points in the romp to run his total to 455 in 15 DUSO games. The total surpasses the former record held jointly by Newburgh's Mickey Burkoski and Poughkeepsie's Monty Stickle. Osowick has one more game to improve on the mark.

As a fitting gesture, Osowick was presented the game ball in a ceremony following the contest. The Monties' coach, John Lawler, made the presentation in the memory of the late Kenneth Sommerville, long-time athletic director.

Port rode to its 11th league win as against 4 setbacks behind Osowick's barrage. The Raiders are currently deadlocked with Poughkeepsie for second place.

Ace Phillips topped the Monties with 18. The Port Jayvees also won, 40-30, as Bill Pepper scored 18 and Carl Waichter 12.

Tannenbaum and Gorman Score Deciding Points

Mike Tannenbaum's layup shot followed moments later by Bob Gorman's foul toss enabled Ellenville Central to upset Middletown High, 46-45, in a bitterly fought DUSO League game last night at the Mid-City.

Tannenbaum, who is the Blue Devils bread-and-butter player, scored with less than a minute left to break a 43-41 tie. Gorman's free throw came with a half minute to go and proved to be the margin of difference.

Jim Merritt, who scored 45 points in his last game, gave the Middies hopes a shot in the arm 20 seconds from the end with a layup, but that's as close as they could come. Tom Diana had a chance to knot the count in the fading moments, but missed a foul shot. Merritt recovered the rebound, but before he could get a shot away had the ball stolen by Pete Anderson who held onto it to the finish.

Middies in Front
The Middies led 12-10 and 23-20 in a nip-and-tuck first half of action. The Blue Devils of Coach Chuck Walsh splurged for 20 points in the third period to take over 40-37.

Tannenbaum, the league's second top scorer, canned 20 to pace the game's scorers. Merritt connected for 19 and teammate John Price 10.

The loss dropped Middletown into a tie with Kingston in the Intersectionals. Both are 8-7 and meet Friday at the Mid-City with the playoff bid at stake.

Chances Bright
Meanwhile, Ellenville's victory brightened its chances of beating out Liberty for a berth in the Class B Sectionals. The two clubs are also snarled with 8-7 records and play their last games Friday. If they should wind up in a exact tie, a playoff will then take place.

The Middle Jayvees coasted to a 45-23 win in the opening game. John Barber scored 11 to pace the win.

Rondout Valley Wallops Wallkill, 56-30, to Tie for Lead

Mustion, Smith Set Pace as Club Posts 16th Win

Rondout Valley Central rode into a first place tie with Saugerties in the UCL behind John Mustion's 20 points and Bill Smith's 12 as Wallkill Central bowed, 56-30, on the Blue Devils' court last night.

The victory was No. 10 as against 1 defeat in league play for Coach Chick Mehan's high-powered club. They end regular season play Friday at Highland. Saugerties plays at Marlboro the same night in its finale. If the teams wind up in a first place deadlock, a playoff will be held Tuesday at Onteora Central School.

Rondout's overall record is 16-1—tops hereabouts. Its only loss was a two-point decision to the Sawyers.

Wallkill was outclassed all the way as a combination of Rondout's potent scoring punch and stout defense proved to be too much. The Kerhonkson team leaped off to a 16-2 first quarter lead and breezed in from there. The halftime margin was 32-14 and the three-quarter bulge, 46-23.

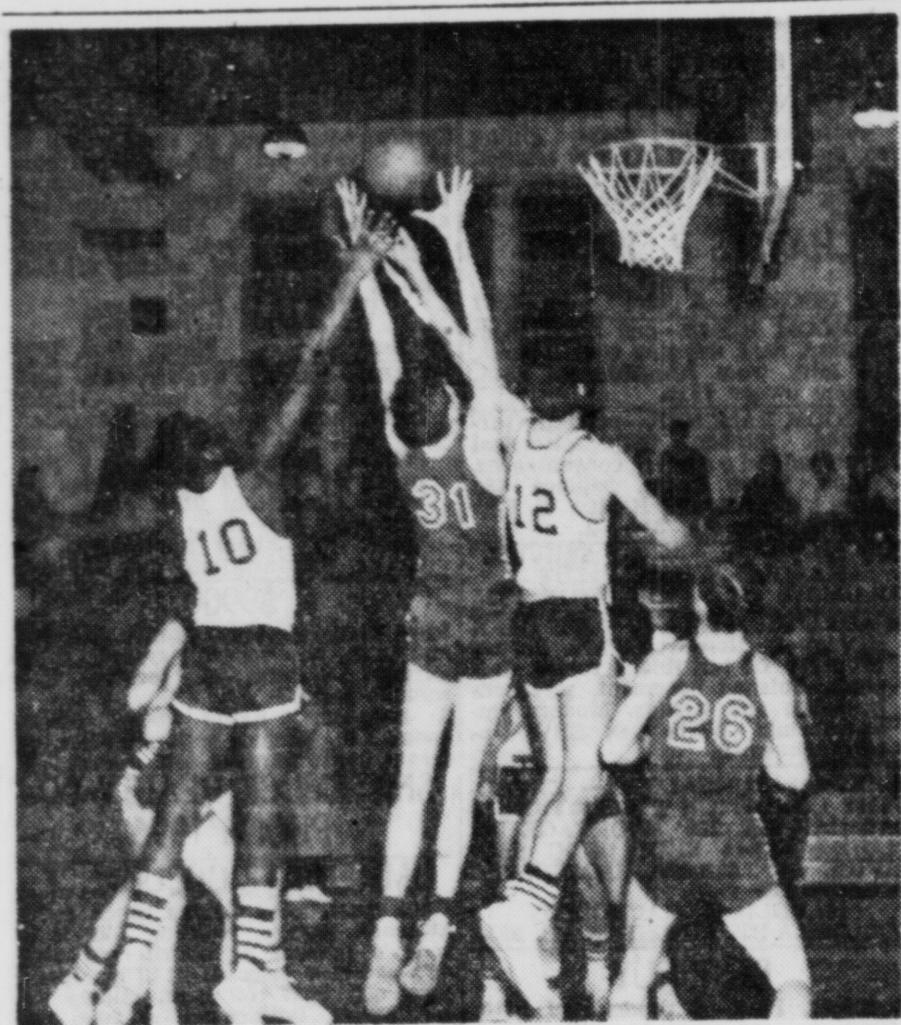

John O'Connor topped the Wallkill scoring with 14 points. The Blue Devils are 2-9 and end their season Friday at New Paltz.

500th Win Eludes Johnny Longden

Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 27 (P)—Johnny Longden's world record of lifetime winners stood at 4,999 today, and the 5,000th appeared as hard to get as his first one 30 years ago.

Longden was entered on four horses at Santa Anita today and his admirers were hoping for "just one more."

The 47-year-old Johnny had six mounts yesterday. He won for No. 4,999 in the first race, but then finished second twice, third twice and fourth in the final race of the day.

Longden's first winner was in 1927 at Salt Lake City on a $300 plater named Hugo K. Asher.

Last September Longden rode No. 4,871 and broke the world record held by Sir Gordon Richards of England.

Tarheels Win 22nd Straight After Big Scare

(By The Associated Press)

It was 23 down and one to go today for the University of North Carolina.

The powerful Tar Heels, the lone undefeated major college team in the country, need only to defeat Duke Friday night to complete their regular season undefeated.

Frank McGuire's precisionists made Wake Forest their 23rd straight victim last night, 69-64, after overcoming an eight-point deficit in the second half.

Wallace Leads Again

Meanwhile, the see-saw race for the season's individual scoring honors continued unabated. Last Saturday, Grady Wallace of South Carolina was the top man. By Sunday morning, it was Joe Gibbon of Mississippi. Now Wallace is back on the throne.

The Gamecock sharpshooter poured in 39 points to lead his club to a 98-96 triumph over The Citadel. He has scored an average of 30.48 points per game to 30.30 for Gibbon, whose team was idle last night.

Each has one game remaining this Saturday night. South Carolina plays Clemson and Mississippi goes against Mississippi State.

Three other teams in the top 10 of the Associated Press poll played last night. Southern Methodist, No. 4 and with the Southwest Conference title safely tucked away, polished off Texas Christian, 88-75, to run its record to 20-3, but sixth-ranked UCLA had its Pacific Coast title hopes jolted by Southern California, 84-80.

Seattle Rolls

Seattle, No. 5 and a top contender for the National Invitation Tournament in New York next month, clubbed Portland, 105-95. Seattle's record now stands at 21-2. Elgin Baylor, the nation's third-ranking scorer, hit for 51 points for Seattle. His average now stands at 30.09.

Notre Dame, which came along with a rush in the second half of the season, won in its 11th in a row and 11th in its last 13 starts by crushing Marquette, 76-56.

North Carolina was given a king-sized scare by Wake Forest. With just 46 seconds to go, the Deacons led by 64-63, but they couldn't hold their advantage.

Cancer Film Is Slated for Paltz Thursday, Mar. 14

The American Cancer Society, Ulster county unit, has announced through the director of Volunteer Services of Ulster County, Mrs. Arthur Freeman, that an important film concerning cancer will be shown Thursday, March 14, at 8 p. m. at the New Paltz State Teachers College, under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Pyle, chairman of the educational committee for the Town of New Paltz.

This film is for the purpose of expressing the necessity of consulting the doctor as soon as there is any indication of any symptom related to the "Seven Dangers of Smoaks," an advisory pamphlet issued by the American Cancer Society.

The film is particularly of interest to women and it is hoped husbands and fathers will urge members of their families to attend. A member of the Ulster County Medical Association will be the speaker and will answer any questions members of the audience may desire to ask. "The Doctor Speaks His Mind" is the title of the picture. Contrary to many other pictures, the scene centers around the doctor rather than the patient. The featured character is an average

The answers to everyday insurance problems* by HERMAN J. EATON, C.L.U.

QUESTION: Suppose a driver hits his brakes so hard he wears flat spots on all his tires trying to avoid a collision. Shouldn't the insurance company pay for the tire damage? After all, the driver has probably saved the company a big collision repair bill.
ANSWER: The answer is probably "no." Tires are worn a bit every time a stop is made and if insurance companies paid for that damage there would be a million arguments as to degree of damage and whether or not the damage was necessary in avoiding a collision.
* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Cold Air Moving Into East Areas

(By The Associated Press)
Gusty northerly winds, which carried cold air from the mid-west across the Great Lakes region into the Ohio Valley, headed into the eastern third of the nation today.

Wind gusts of 40 to 50 M.P.H. whipped Chicago and Milwaukee areas yesterday as the surge of cold air fanned across much of the central part of the country.

30 Degrees Lower
Temperatures were generally 20 to 30 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier in most of the Great Lakes region. Readings were near or below zero in the northern sections. The colder air extended southwestward into Oklahoma, with temperatures in the 30s.

The mild winter weather which covered areas along the Atlantic coast was expected to end during the day with the arrival of the icy air. Record high marks for the date were reported yesterday in sections of New England, with readings in the 60s, including 68 at Boston.

Rain fell during the night from the lower Mississippi Valley northeastward into New England, but diminished early today in most of the western part of the area. Heaviest falls were in New England. Showers were forecast during the day in the middle and south Atlantic coast states.

Slides, Washout Brought by Rains

Several slides and a washout were reported in the area during the night following day-long rains.

Slides were reported on the Hurley Mountain road and on Route 9W near the bypass. A spokesman for the Ulster county highway department said that neither was serious and that traffic kept moving.

He said "a few stones" slid down on the Hurley Mountain road and that lights were placed at the scene about 9:30 p. m. The stones were cleared away this morning.

A foot of sand poured over one side of Route 9W near Ferraro's new bowling dome early in the evening. Lights were placed at the site and the sand cleared away.

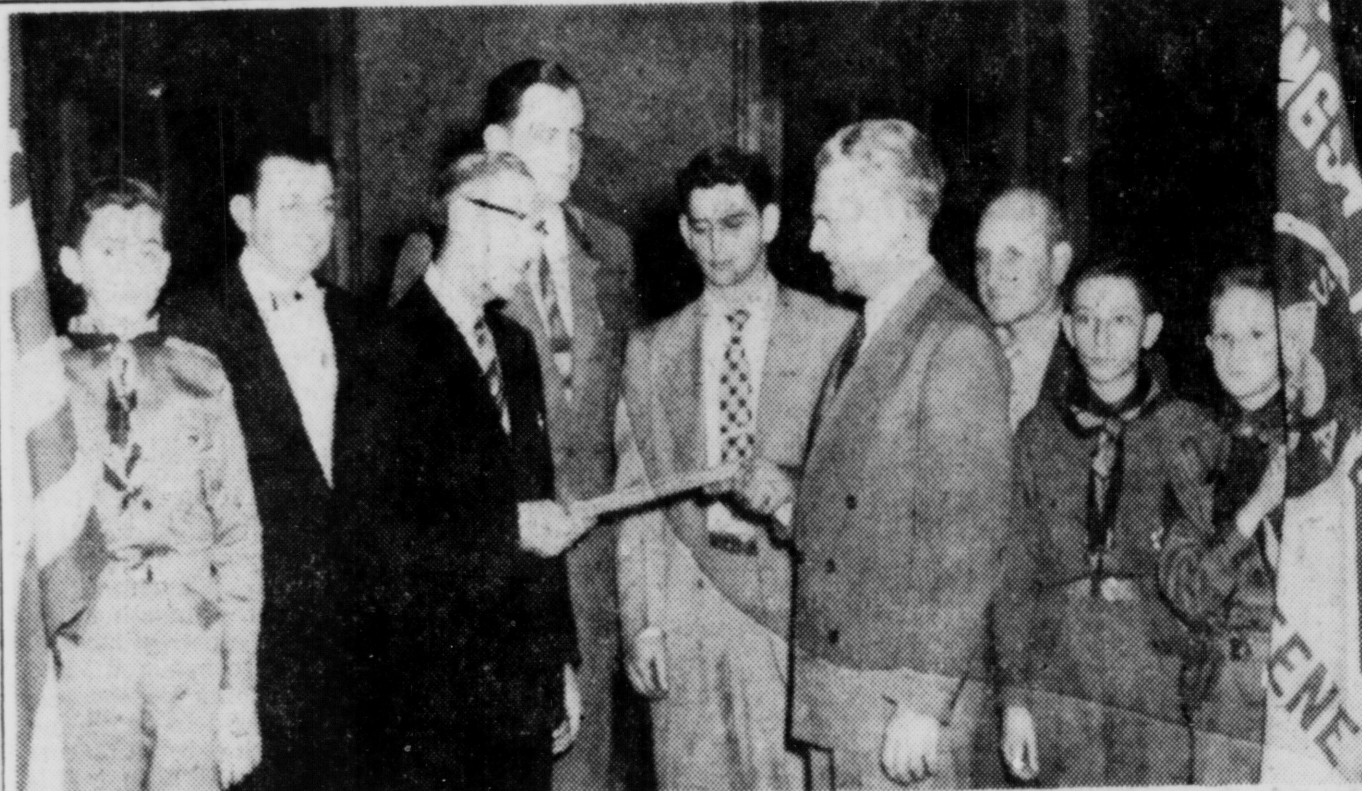

The "washout" was on Ulster Landing road about 100 feet north of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge. It was reported by Kingston state police. A new culvert recently installed beneath the road sank as rains softened the roadbed, it was reported. The county highway department filled in the depression with a load of earth.

Fog was reported in the area but not sufficiently heavy to stop the flow of traffic. A broken steering gear on one of the two ferries plying the Hudson river between Newburgh and Beacon caused cancellation of about eight runs Tuesday afternoon and early evening. This was the "Dutchess." The other ferry, the "Orange," continued its runs on schedule.

Up-to-Date
Yellow Springs, Ohio (AP) — The National Science Foundation is financing a unique experiment at Antioch College here in an effort to help solve the scientist shortage. Working on the theory that well-taught high school science courses help attract bright students, the foundation is sponsoring a night school for high school science teachers. If successful, the foundation hopes colleges and universities throughout the country will adopt the plan. Designed to give instructors advanced knowledge in chemistry, physics, mathematics and the earth sciences, the once-a-week classes also stress teaching methods and demonstrations that can be duplicated in the average high school laboratory. Tuition is free and the foundation pays each teacher-student $5 a class night to cover his books and transportation.

ST. MARY'S TROOP 18 GETS CHARTER—George Dempsey (left center), troop committee chairman, receives charter for St. Mary's Boy Scout Troop 18 from Claude Williams of Kingston District Advancement Committee. Observing

Parents, Friends Attend Charter Night for Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 18, sponsored by St. Mary's Church, received its charter and was installed last night in ceremonies held at St. Mary's School Hall attended by many parents and friends of the Scouts.

Claude Williams of the Kingston District Advancement Committee made the charter presentation to George Dempsey, chairman of the troop committee. Mr. Williams outlined the privileges and duties of Scout leaders as he installed the officers of the new troop.

Officers installed along with Mr. Dempsey were Rev. Edward J. Farrelly, assistant at St. Mary's as institutional representative; Edward Conger, Peter Naccarato and Salvatore Reno as troop committeemen, and Robert Hill as scoutmaster. Mr. Hill presented registration certificates and badges to the new scouts: James Sweeney, John Demskie, Vincent Dempsey, Anthony Perry, Richard Netter, Francis Daley, Gerald Engstrom, William Tomasecki, Edgar Harlow, Thomas Bruck, Eugene Van Steenburgh, George Ferguson, James Costello, Michael McGowan, Peter Naccarato, Nasser Habeeb, Charles Butcher, Robert Boughton, Thomas Henry and Arthur Longtong.

The scout law was dramatically presented in a candle light ceremony led by Scout James Sweeney after which all the boys took their Scout oath. Father Farrelly thanked all present and urged all to live up to the high ideals which had been presented throughout the ceremonies.

After the meeting movies were shown and refreshments were served.

WRGB to Contest

UHF and adapters to enable older sets to do so.

There still were competitive difficulties for many UHF station operators because of the larger number of VHF sets and the longer range of VHF transmission. A re-alignment of channels to help the UHF stations was proposed last year.

Would Be Channel 47
The FCC ordered VHF channel 6 now assigned to WRGB, shifted to Syracuse and UHF channel 47 assigned to WRGB, a General Electric Co. station that went into operation in 1939. VHF channel 10, assigned to nearby Vail Mills, would be eliminated.

UHF channel 30 would be substituted for VHF channel 9 in Elmira. UHF channel 37, assigned to Auburn, would be eliminated.

The WRGB manager said the station "had no intention of voluntarily abandoning" its VHF audience.

The FCC did not specify an effective date for its order. Welcott said WRGB would "do its utmost" to protect its viewers' interests. He did not say what course the station planned.

FIREMAN IS HONORED—Earl Soper (right), superintendent of Kingston city schools, pins a medallion on Capt. Edward H. Albrecht, of the local fire department, in recognition of his selection for an award by the local Parent-Teacher Association Council. A contribution to a scholarship fund known as the Jenkins Memorial Award was made at the high school Monday evening in the name of Capt. Albrecht. He was cited for his humanitarian work, especially in behalf of the city's children. (Freeman photo).

Minister Can't Find Car After Night Collision

Police met with a variation of routine, after a local accident last night, when they found that one of the vehicles involved somehow got away from the scene without its driver.

The Rev. S. B. Chappell, 61, of St. Mark's African Union Methodist Church, Foxhall avenue, owner and operator of a sedan involved in a mishap at Broadway and West O'Reilly street, left his car with motor running, while he went to make a phone call, and when he returned the car was not there.

Hit at Traffic Light
A police report at 9:02 p. m., said the Rev. Mr. Chappell's car, headed south on Broadway, had stopped for a traffic light, when it was struck by the sedan of Jennings E. Foster, 22, of Eddyville. The latter also left the scene to telephone, the report said.

Shortly after the Rev. Mr. Chappell's car was reported missing from the scene, a police notation said it was located by officers Everett Emmick and Robert FitzGibbon at the rear of the Myron J. Michael School.

The Rev. Mr. Chappell, the report said, suffered shock in the mishap and was to be treated by a doctor.

Patrol Car Damaged
A police patrol car was damaged in another mishap on Broadway near Pine Grove avenue, reported at 11:30 p. m.

The patrol car, operated by officer William Slover, was headed north on Broadway, turning into the Trailways bus terminal, and the other car involved, owned and operated by Cornelius O'Neil, 23, of 237 Hasbrouck avenue, was headed south on Broadway.

A rear tail light, bumper, fender and chrome strip on the patrol car was reported damaged, and the other car was damaged on the front fender, a headlight and grill. No injuries were reported.

Probes Scandal Stories

Los Angeles, Feb. 27 (AP)—A legislative committee today digs into the Hollywood sources for so-called scandal magazine stories in what promises to be an even juicier expose than any ever printed in the magazine. Officially, the committee, headed by Sen. Fred Kraft (R-San Diego), is known as the California Senate's Interim Committee on Collection Agencies. How it got mixed up with the scandal magazines and the famed wrong-door raid on Marilyn Monroe's apartment allegedly staged by Frank Sinatra and Joe DiMaggio is not too apparent. But the committee says such publications are linked with collection agencies in the gathering of material.

Army Project Canceled

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says there will be only one Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile (IRBM). He gave a strong hint yesterday that it will be the army's Thor rather than the army's Jupiter. Wilson told a news conference the army project has been "canceled," but that the army would continue testing the Jupiter for a time. Parts of the Jupiter might go into the final version of the 1,500-mile range rocket, the defense chief added.

Stranded
Grangeville, Idaho (AP)—When rural school buses were stopped by snow in this central Idaho area, the assistant county school superintendent got a first-hand taste of travel difficulties. While checking on road conditions, Chester McArthur's car was stuck for an hour in a snow-drift.
